Healing Foods Program

More than a quarter of the produce grown on all our farms is donated to social service organizations through our Healing Foods Program. Some of the organizations we work with include Community Table - Arvada, Commún, Kaizen Food Share, and Family Tree. Through this program, we also supplement over 60 CSA shares that go toward SNAP and WIC recipients

Farmer Education Program Liberation by Land: Greenhouse

Monthly class series are offered at our various sites with a sliding scale payment option. No one is turned away for payment concerns. From adult learning to children's programming, classes follow relevant gardening topics with the seasons. Ranging from beekeeping to backyard chickens to cover crops for your neighborhood garden, our educational series supports local farming interests and sustainability.

The Liberation by Land campaign, led by FrontLine Farming, aims to secure a sustainable future for our community by acquiring up to 30 acres of farmland with healthy soil. Through this campaign, we seek to address the historical injustice faced by BIPOC communities in land ownership. The funds raised during the farm-to-table dinner will contribute to purchasing a greenhouse on the newly acquired land. The greenhouse is crucial as it will enable FrontLine to extend the growing season, produce food year-round, and cultivate culturally relevant foodways, fostering food sovereignty and localized economies while honoring our ancestors.
